EXPANDING REACH. RBI mulls authorising BCs to activate inoperative accounts too

Our Bureau
Mumbai

The Reserve Bank of India on Friday proposed allowing business correspondents (BCs) to conduct periodic updation of know-your-customer (KYC), according to draft guidelines.

It said that self-declaration from the customer in case of no change in KYC information or change only in the address details may be obtained through an authorised BC of a bank.

In such cases, after successful biometric based e-KYC authentication, the bank shall obtain the self-declaration, including the supporting documents, if required, from the customer through the BC.

SELF-DECLARATIONS

“A bank may enable its BC systems for recording these self-declarations and supporting documents thereof in electronic form in the bank's systems. In case such an option is not available in the electronic mode and

BUCK STOPS WITH BANK. The RBI reiterated that the ultimate responsibility for periodic updation of KYC remains with the bank such declaration is submitted in physical form by the customer, the BC shall authenticate the self-declaration and supporting documents submitted in person by the customer, and promptly forward the same to the concerned bank branch,” the RBI said.

The BC shall provide the customer an acknowledgement of receipt of such declaration of documents. The bank branch shall update the customer's KYC records and intimate the customer once the records get updated in the system. However, the regulator reiterated that the ultimate responsibility for periodic updation of KYC remains with the bank.

Further, lenders must intimate customers in advance to update their KYC. Prior to due date of periodic updation of KYC, bank shall give at least three advance intimations, including at least one intimation by letter.

Subsequent to the due date, the lender shall give at least three reminders, including at least one reminder by letter, at appropriate intervals, to such customers who have still not complied with the requirements, despite advance intimations. Issuance of such advance intimation shall be duly recorded in the bank's system, the RBI said.

INOPERATIVE A/CS

Further, the RBI also proposed that authorised BCs of the bank may be utilised for activation of inoperative accounts.

Per existing norms, any credit balance in a deposit account maintained with banks, which have not been operated upon for ten years or more, are required to be transferred by banks to DEA Fund maintained by the Reserve Bank of India. The RBI has sought public feedback on the proposals by June 6.

Six-member board to regulate, supervise payment systems: RBI

Press Trust of India
New Delhi

A RBI Governor-headed six-member Payments Regulatory Board, including three Central government nominees, will regulate and supervise payment systems in the country, according to a Central bank notification.

The Payments Regulatory Board (PRB) will replace the Board for Regulation and Supervision of Payment and Settlement System (BPSS).

The five-member BPSS is also headed by the RBI Governor but does not include any government nominee. The other members are a deputy governor concerned and three directors from the Central Board of the Reserve Bank of India.

The Reserve Bank has now notified 'Payments Regulatory Board Regulations, 2025'.

According to the notification, other members of the Governor-headed Payments Regulatory Board (PRB) will be the Deputy Governor in charge of the Payment and Settlement Systems, one officer of the RBI to be nominated by the Central Board, and three persons nominated by the central government.

RBI Governor, Deputy Governor and the central bank official will function as “ex officio” members of the Board.

INVITING EXPERTS

It further said the PRB may invite persons with experience in the fields of payment and settlement systems, information technology, and law to attend its meeting either as permanent or ad hoc invitees and the Principal Legal Adviser of the RBI shall be a permanent invitee to the meetings.

The Payments Regulatory Board shall ordinarily meet at least twice a year, the notification said.

Earlier, the government had set up an inter-ministerial committee headed by the Economic Affairs Secretary to finalise amendments to the Payment and Settlement Systems Act, 2007. In its draft report, the panel suggested the creation of an independent regulator Payments Regulatory Board to deal with payments-related issues.

The Reserve Bank of India, in October 2018, released its ‘Dissent Note’ on the Inter-Ministerial Committee for the finalisation of Amendments to the Payment and Settlement Systems Act, objecting to the panel's recommendation of having a regulator for payment systems outside the RBI.

“The Payments Regulatory Board (PRB) must remain with the Reserve Bank and be headed by the Governor, Reserve Bank of India. It may comprise 3 members nominated by the Government and RBI, respectively, with a casting vote for the Governor to ensure smooth operations of the Board.

“The composition of the PRB is also not in conformity with the announcements made in the Finance Bill by the Finance Minister,” the RBI's ‘Dissent Note’ had said.

Agnikul Cosmos fires its electric motor-driven semi-cryogenic engine

Sindhu Hariharan
Chennai

Agnikul Cosmos on Friday announced the successful firing of its electric motor-driven semi-cryogenic engine, the first-of-its-kind in India.

In a video of the firing shared on social media by Agnikul Cosmos, the engine can be seen being throttled across a wide range of thrusts by varying the speed of the electric motor.

“Electric motor-driven throttling allows for higher accuracy and rapid response — important features for handling complex trajectories. Also, regarding flight readiness, this test is a key milestone towards firing a cluster of engines together,” Agnikul said.

The system will use the start-up's signature single-piece engine that it has always used.

A semi-cryogenic engine is a type of rocket engine that uses a combination of liquid oxygen, a cryogenic oxidiser, along with a non-cryogenic fuel like refined kerosene.

In such an engine, an electric motor is used to power the pumps that circulate the propellants.

A source said that Agnikul is on track for its larger Stage 1 launch by this year-end, and the successful firing of its electric motor-powered engine is part of this roadmap. The use of electric motors makes it more efficient to pump fuels in the semi-cryogenic engine with throttling; the start-up will now also be able to fire multiple engines together as needed for its next stage.

Along with the patented engine, many sub-systems of the pump were also 3D-printed and assembled at the company's Rocket Factory -1 at the IIT-Madras Research Park in Chennai. The motor drives and associated control software were also fully designed and developed in-house.

RBI penalises Union Bank, Transactree Tech

Press Trust of India
Mumbai

The Reserve Bank of India has imposed penalties on Union Bank of India and Transactree Technologies for non-compliance with certain regulatory norms.

A penalty of ₹63.6 lakh has been imposed on Union Bank of India for non-compliance with certain provisions of Banking Regulation Act, 1949, and certain directions on 'Credit Flow to Agriculture -- Collateral free Agricultural Loans', it said.

In another statement, it said a penalty of ₹40 lakh has been imposed on Transactree Technologies for non-compliance with certain provisions of the 'Non-Banking Financial Company - Peer to Peer Lending Platform (Reserve Bank) Directions, 2017'.

Rupee posts biggest single-day gain since 2022 amid US dollar weakness

Our Bureau
Mumbai

The rupee recorded its biggest single-day gain since November 2022, appreciating about 80 paise against the dollar. The greenback weakened on concerns about mounting US domestic debt, even as domestic equity markets attracted some FPI inflows.

The Indian unit opened about 4 paise stronger at 85.97 per dollar against previous close of 86.01. The USDINR pair hit a high/low of 85.97/85.1425. Dilip Parmar, Senior Research Analyst, HDFC Securities, said: “The rupee experienced its most significant single-day gain since November 11, 2022. This upward movement was primarily fuelled by a weaker US dollar and a strong performance in the domestic equity market.” Additionally, the central bank's efforts to encourage foreign investment in corporate bonds, providing short-duration liquidity, further bolstered the rupee's appreciation.

Parmar said, looking ahead, the spot USDINR is expected to find support at 84.94 and face resistance at 86.15.

Benchmark equity indices BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty closed up 0.95 per cent (or 769 points) and 0.99 per cent (243 points), respectively.

The dollar is facing rough weather due to rising concerns about US financial stability in the face of mounting domestic debt and Moody's decision to cut the US credit rating last week, among others.

‘The Trailblazer community is becoming part of the extended Salesforce family’

bl.interview

Nethra Sailesh
Bengaluru

Salesforce, the cloud-based CRM company, supports over 360 ventures as part of its start-up initiative. Unlike traditional accelerators, it uses an approach similar to its Trailblazer community, which acts as an extended part to create a collaborative space for skill development and career growth.

Sanket Atal, Managing Director of Technology and Operations, Salesforce India, speaks about the community-driven incubator model, its impact on the start-up ecosystem, and how Salesforce intends to contribute to talent upskilling.

Edited excerpts:

What does Salesforce do as part of its incubator programme? How does it benefit the company?

The Trailblazer community is becoming part of the extended Salesforce family. Once you become a Trailblazer, you benefit by learning the technologies and leveraging people who are senior to you in the community to get their guidance, help with finding jobs, and whatnot. And they've done some fantastic things.

So I was really blown away by that community concept after I joined Salesforce. And I've been working with start-ups for a long time. So that's when I thought to conceptu-

If we have helped you and you have met with some semblance of success, we expect that when other people join the community, you help them as well

SANKET ATAL,
Managing Director of Technology and Operations, Salesforce India

in the programme?

As far as external collaborators are concerned, we do have partnerships with some VCs and some angel investors, but most programmes have those. And student-led, we are working with start-ups who have established themselves and registered as companies, and who are developing solutions on top of our platforms. That's the fundamental thing. Some of these folks started their concepts when they were in college but then took them to market once they graduated.

What does Salesforce's upskilling programme do?

We have this thing called Trailhead, which is an online course developed by us in all kinds of areas for every product completely free. And it's gamified. So you go there and with each course you complete, you get certain credits which are called badges. With enough badges, you become a ranger.

And, as they're gamified you can kind of gauge where you're at with these things. It's a very powerful concept.

Trailblazers have done this multiple times. In fact, in addition to that, they also go through certifications as a developer, an administrator, etc; for those, you have to pay. But a lot of these guys get tested every year in the latest and greatest technologies. And they benefit because their market value as a developer goes up.

Do you see any student-led ventures in the mix? Or are there any external collaborators involved

POV VVS

Trump vs Harvard: War on brains he can’t win

I’ve visited Harvard—not as a brilliant academic, mind you, but as a guest. I’ve sat in many lectures, roamed around its historic campus, and even completed an online course or two. Harvard is everything you expect it to be: intellectually fierce, unapologetically curious, and rooted in the belief that knowledge thrives best when questioned, not dictated.

But these days, questioning is a crime in the eyes of one Donald J. Trump.

Yes, the most controversial, chaotic, and let’s be honest—catastrophically confused president in modern U.S. history has now taken aim at the oldest and most prestigious university in the country. Because when you’ve failed to govern, why not pick a fight with scholars?

Until recently, America’s schools and universities functioned with a sense of autonomy—allowing students to explore politics, philosophy, and even question authority. That is, until Trump decided academia needed to be brought to heel. Welcome to the era of presidential vendetta posing as policy.

Harvard’s Sins?

The Trump administration has treated Harvard like a political enemy rather than an educational institution. After months of vaguely cooperative talks, the White House abruptly issued a list of demands to the university that read less like a policy memo and more like a ransom note.

These included:

- Turning over confidential admissions and hiring data
- Submitting to “viewpoint audits”
- Reducing the power of students and faculty deemed “too influential”
- Enforcing “viewpoint diversity” (whatever that means in MAGA-speak)

All under the pretext of fighting “anti-Semitism,” “racially motivated violence,” and—you guessed it—“wokeness.” Of course, the real reason emerged when Trump himself took to the microphone to call Harvard faculty “woke, radical left idiots and birdbrains.”

You know you’ve lost the intellectual argument when your only retort is playground-level name-calling. In a move that shocked the global academic community, the Trump administration—through the Department of Homeland Security—blocked Harvard from admitting new foreign students, citing alleged ties to the Chinese Communist Party and a “promotion of anti-Semitism.” Not proven ties. Alleged;Without trial, without proof, and certainly without precedent.

Until further notice, Harvard must surrender private data, submit to federal investigation, and beg for reinstatement of its Student and Exchange Visitor Program certification. The deadline? A brisk 72 hours. Because when you’re dealing with Trump, nuance is for the weak.

Let’s be clear: the impact of this stunt is not theoretical. Currently, 788 Indian students are enrolled at Harvard, part of the 500–800 Indian scholars who pass through its gates every year. The university, founded in 1636, has educated more Nobel laureates, heads of state, and leaders than the Trump cabinet has coherent policies.

Trump’s war on Harvard isn’t about national security, civil rights, or educational standards. It’s about revenge>About silencing dissent. About controlling the narrative. And most tragically, it’s about feeding red meat to a political base that cheers every time intellect is ridiculed and expertise is scorned.

If education is a privilege, as the Trump administration now claims, then governance must surely be earned. And by that standard, Trump would’ve flunked out of Politics 101—if he ever bothered to enroll.

The sad truth- In this feud, Harvard will survive. Its legacy is centuries deep. But the damage to America’s credibility as a haven for academic freedom may linger long after the MAGA banners fade.
